

Richard Heinsohn Biography

I was born in East Tennessee, but my mother was from Madrid and my dad was from New England. I attended the McCallie School in Chattanooga and then studied art at the Lamar Dodd School of Art at The University of Georgia in Athens, Georgia. Herbert Creecy was my most influential professor and we remained close friends until his death in 2003. I moved to New York City in 1986 and lived and worked there for fifteen years. Allan Stone has collected several of my paintings, sponsored me and put me in several group shows including one show, which included Franz Kline and Willem de Kooning. I now live and work in Nashville, Tennessee.
